Portraits

Erasmus, a small half length on board by H. Holbein

Ex Tenebris clarum doctrina Hollere lumen qui felix postit primus Erasmus erat.

This picture was painted by Holbein when Erasmus returned from England, who sent it over as a present to his friend Sir Thomas More. Sir Thomas was so pleased with the performance, that he procured the artist to come over to England, and employed him a long time privately in his House. This picture was in the Arundel collection. and has the date 1523 upon it

N.B. The verses added to some of these portraits were written by Dr. Mead, and inscribed under those which adorned his Gallery. Where the sizes are not mentioned it must be understood that they are Heads only of the size of life ——— £ 110. 5. Dr Ld Folkstone
